Do you Know About the Recreational Boating Association of Washington?

RBAW for short, amplifies your voice on issues that impact recreational boating. Their focus on advocacy, awareness and preservation and expansion of boating opportunities started over 60 years ago. They are the organization that bought Sucia Island in the San Juans and donated it to the state for all to enjoy – and they just continued that legacy with Lakebay Marina in the south sound.

An annual Individual Membership is only $20 a year and you'll get access to awesome RBAW negotiated discounts; it might be the best value in boating! Check them out at www.RBAW.org and consider joining
